

ABSTRACT

[0065] Embodiments of the present invention provide a method, apparatus and system for path searching, including computing a set of slope-normalized operator values corresponding to a set of respective signal samples.